Description: Ocular Melanoma (OM): A rare cancer originating in the eye. OM is a malignant tumor which often spreads to other parts of the body (metastasis). OM differs from other types of melanoma as it spreads throughout the body in the blood stream verses lymph nodes. OM is a potentially lethal disease which is most often fatal in approximately 50% of all cases. OM is capable of spreading to multiple organs in human body, with the liver being most common. Initial treatment is to remove complete eye having the malignant tumor. To date there is no cure for this disease. OMF funds cancer research and provides financial assistance for OM cancer patients.
